Dear Hiring Manager:

I am writing to express my strong interest in the field of cybersecurity, where I can apply my extensive background in safety operations, crisis response, and risk management to help protect digital environments. With over a decade of experience working in high-pressure security roles, particularly supporting vulnerable, and at-risk populations, I bring a unique perspective on threat mitigation, situational awareness, and human centred protection strategies.

My career in law enforcement and protection services has sharpened my skills in incident reporting, emergency preparedness, and proactive safety measures. As I shift into the cybersecurity space, I am actively expanding my technical knowledge in areas such as cybersecurity frameworks, various operating systems, and network defence. I am especially interested in contributing to organizations that prioritize both physical and digital safety, where I can combine my human services background with technical security capabilities to create comprehensive protection strategies.

I am excited about the opportunity to bring my dedication to safeguarding people and systems to your team. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my evolving cybersecurity skill set and strong security foundation align with your organization's mission and goals.

Sincerely,

Chris Layne
